STAAR CONNECTION™
Introduction

KAMICO® Instructional Media's program is validated by scientifically based research. STAAR CONNECTION™ Diagnostic Series™ and Developmental Series™ can be used in tandem to ensure mastery of Texas reporting categories and TEKS. The Diagnostic Series™ consists of a bank of assessments. Each assessment covers a mixture of reporting categories and TEKS. This research-based format provides continual reinforcement for and ensures retention of mastered concepts. To take full advantage of this series, administer an assessment to students. After they have completed the assessment, use it as an instructional tool. Go over each item with the class, discussing all correct and incorrect answers. Then, use the assessment as a diagnostic tool to determine a standard for which students need remediation. Find that standard in the Developmental Series™.

Each book in the STAAR CONNECTION Developmental Series™ consists of isolated activities and assessments to allow for the development of specific TEKS. For every TEKS, there is at least one individual or group activity. The activities provide a fun, challenging, yet nonthreatening, way to develop mastery of the TEKS. In addition to these activities, each Developmental Series™ book has assessments on isolated standards to be used to identify mastery or the need for further skill development or reinforcement. Continue to alternate between the STAAR CONNECTION™ Diagnostic Series™ and the Developmental Series™.

KAMICO's DATA CONNECTION® software prints student answer sheets on plain paper using a standard laser printer, scans answer sheets using a TWAIN-compliant scanner, scores assessments, and disaggregates student academic data, showing which goals and objectives are mastered and which goals and objectives are in need of reinforcement. The software is preprogrammed to work with all KAMICO® assessments. It is easily customized to work with other instructional materials and assessments as well as teacher-, school-, district-, or state-created assessments. DATA CONNECTION® analyzes academic data from individual students, classes, grade levels, and demographic groups. Reports are presented in tabular and graphic form. Item analysis is provided to help determine the most effective method of instruction.

KAMICO® Instructional Media, Inc., supports efforts to ensure adequate yearly progress and eliminate surprises in high-stakes test results.

- 1 DOUGLAS and his friends are dressed in pajamas in DOUGLAS and DOROTHY's living room on a weekend night. Sleeping bags, bags of microwave popcorn, empty pizza boxes, board games, and other signs of a sleepover litter the floor. There are easy chairs and other typical furnishings. On one side of the stage sits a large television whose screen cannot be seen by the audience.
- 2 DOUGLAS: Wow, this is going to be great! We've got everything we need—a scary movie to stream, popcorn, pizza. . . . It's even storming outside. (Thunder sounds offstage.)
- 3 ALEX: (yawns, then sarcastically) Yeah, all we need now is a barrel of monkeys.
- 4 FRANK: Not to sound rude, Douglas, but I'm with Alex. When you asked us to sleep over, I guess I didn't think we'd be just sitting around watching a silly old movie that couldn't even scare my kid sister.
- 5 ALEX: Don't you have any new video games?
- 6 DESHAWN: I brought Space Attackers! I even brought an extra controller. Let me get them out of my—
- 7 DOUGLAS: (interrupting) Hold on, guys. I'm telling you, give this movie a chance. (motions for others to come closer, which they do, then whispering) Actually, it's probably the most boring movie ever.
- 8 FRANK: Huh?

- 9 ALEX: What are you talking about?
- 10 DOUGLAS: Shhh! (still whispering) I don't want Dad to hear. Here's my plan. My sister, Dorothy, is having a sleepover tonight, too. Mom is bringing her and her friends back from the arcade in fifteen minutes.
- 11 ALEX: (groans, then sarcastically) Just when I thought this couldn't get any more fun!
- 12 DOUGLAS: Pay attention, "smart Alex." We'll start playing this movie and pretend to fall asleep. That's why I got an old black-and-white movie—it should be so boring, faking sleep won't be hard at all. Anyway, when Dorothy and her friends get here, Mom will make them stay in Dorothy's room so they don't, ahem, wake us up. That's when the fun will start. (DOUGLAS reaches behind a chair and pulls out several scary masks.) We'll sneak into her room when they aren't expecting it and spook them all!
- 13 (Boys look at each other and start grinning. They chatter excitedly among themselves as DOUGLAS points a remote control at the television. Lights dim, except for a soft blue spot coming from the television. Boys get in their sleeping bags and pretend to fall asleep. Thunder sounds offstage. Sound effects from offstage suggest the beginning of the movie. Rain and howling wind are heard, and there is the sound of a car's engine and then a sputtering sound as the engine noise stops. There is a long pause and then the sound of two car doors slamming.)
- 14 ACTRESS: (performs offstage, providing the sound for the streaming movie) I don't know about this, Jack. There's just something about that house I don't like.
- 15 ACTOR: (performs offstage, like ACTRESS) Well, it's raining cats and dogs out here, Hollie, and the car has run out of gas. We've got to find some place to get out of the rain.
- 16 ACTRESS: It's just that that's the old Johnson farmhouse, and the kids at school say it's haunted.
- 17 ACTOR: Aw, nobody really believes that baloney!
- 18 (Sound effects offstage include footsteps, howling wind, and a creaky fence. Boys gradually sit up, one by one, to look at the television, forgetting they are supposed to pretend to be asleep.)

- 19 ACTOR: Hello, is anyone home? (knocks)
- 20 ACTRESS: It's been abandoned for years, ever since . . . We might as well go in.
- 21 (There is the sound of a creaky door and a slam. BOYS startle.)
- 22 ACTOR: Why did you slam the door behind us?
- 23 ACTRESS: I didn't slam it! It shut by itself! Oh no! It's locked!
(Ghostly moan and thunder are heard. BOYS are visibly frightened. Suddenly, the lights come up as DOROTHY, RUTH, and LANA jump out from behind furniture or a stage wing.)
- 24 DOROTHY,
RUTH, and
LANA: (together) Boo!
- 25 (BOYS jump up, screaming, then see GIRLS. GIRLS laugh hysterically.)
- 26 DOUGLAS: (flustered, growing angry) Wha—? You're supposed to still be at the arcade! What's the big idea giving us all heart attacks like that?
- 27 DOROTHY: (still laughing) Don't play innocent, big brother. (reaches down and grabs the masks he held earlier) We found your spooky stash before we left and decided to have Mom bring us home a little early.
- 28 LANA: You must not have heard the car pull up or the door close because of the storm outside.
- 29 RUTH: When we peeked in and saw you all huddled together, we decided this was an opportunity we couldn't pass up!
- 30 DOROTHY: We even got Mom to play along by keeping quiet. Just consider it payback for what you were planning to do to us—in advance!
- 31 DOUGLAS: (smile growing on his face) Well, little sister, it looks like I've taught you well!
- 32 (All laugh. Close curtain.)

Scary Movie Monsters: More Fiction than Fact

- 1 For many, nothing could be more fun than being scared by a monster on a movie screen. How did famous movie monsters come to be? Some started as characters in books. Others came from legends. Whatever their origin, movie monsters have scared audiences for a long time. Three famous types of movie monsters include mummies, zombies, and vampires. However, the most famous movie monster in the world is Frankenstein's man-monster. That monster is unique. It does not fit any of the three types.

Dr. Frankenstein and His Monster: Making Friends

- 2 Most are familiar with the large, moaning monster with bolts in his neck. The idea for movies about Frankenstein's monster came from a book titled Frankenstein. It was written by Mary Shelley in 1818. The book is about Victor Frankenstein. He is a scientist who wants to create a living person. Frankenstein does not want to make a monster. He wants to make a perfect person. Things do not go as he planned. The creature he gives life to is hardly perfect. It is a huge, frightening man-monster. Dr. Frankenstein is so frightened that he abandons his creation. The monster is not wicked until he experiences Frankenstein's rejection. This rejection angers the monster. The anger leads to the monster's decision to hurt anyone close to Dr. Frankenstein.
- 3 After films began to tell the story, many people mistakenly called the monster itself "Frankenstein." Frankenstein was the name of the scientist who created him. The monster should really be called "Frankenstein's monster."
- 4 Over fifty movies about Frankenstein's monster have been made. The first, a silent film, appeared in 1910. The popular image of Frankenstein's monster was shaped by the 1931 movie Frankenstein starring Boris Karloff. Karloff's Frankenstein is the monster most people picture when they think of Frankenstein.

Mummies: All Wrapped Up

- 5 The idea for movie mummies comes from a real custom. Thousands of years ago, when an Egyptian king died, his followers preserved his body before putting it in a tomb. Part of this process involved wrapping the body in long strips of cloth. Egyptians also placed great golden treasures in the tombs of their kings. Then the doors to the tombs were sealed.

- 6 In 1922, a British archeologist found the tomb of the ancient Egyptian king Tutankhamun, or "King Tut." Inside the tomb were Tut's mummy and astonishing treasures. Not long after the tomb was opened, Lord Carnarvon, the man who paid for the expedition, died. Then some other people associated with the tomb's discovery died. Newspapers began spreading rumors that finding the mummy started a curse. Seven others who were at the tomb died over the next twelve years. Still, no real proof of a curse exists. However, the stories were enough to inspire moviemakers.
- 7 Mummies have been popular in movies since the 1930s. Typically, in horror movies, mummies come back to life when they have been disturbed. Mummies are often mindless scary creatures who hurt people. Sometimes, movie mummies are kings who want to rule again. Sometimes, a mummy seeks a long-lost loved one. All mummies in the movies are unhappy, so they seek revenge for something.

Zombies: Dead on Their Feet

- 8 The first zombie movie appeared in 1932. Zombie movies became very popular in the 1960s and continue to be popular today. A zombie is a scary type of monster. A zombie is someone who has died and has been brought back to life. Once brought back to life, though, the person is a slow but scary monster who wants only to hurt the living. The story of zombies began with a legend from the island of Haiti.
- 9 In movies, zombies chase people. The zombies gather in mobs and go after people. Once a movie zombie bites a character, the character becomes a zombie, too. The idea of zombies roaming a city creating other zombies scares audiences. Some people cry and scream in zombie movies. Others laugh or giggle because they love to be scared.

Vampires: A Pain in the Neck

- 10 Vampires have been legendary monsters for hundreds of years. A vampire is a creature who drinks blood to live. Vampires have fangs. They bite people on the neck to sip their blood. The legend also says that once someone is bitten by a vampire, he or she becomes a vampire. Vampire legends have many variations. Most stories of these creatures come from Eastern Europe.
- 11 The most famous vampire, Count Dracula, came from a novel written by an Irishman named Bram Stoker. In the story, Dracula lived in Transylvania, a region of Eastern Europe. Stoker included many parts of the vampire legend so common to movies now. For example, Dracula slept in a coffin. He could not go outside during the daytime. The story also says that Count Dracula could not see his reflection in a mirror.
- 12 Many vampire movies have been made since Stoker's book came out in the late 1800s. One of the first was the terrifying silent film Nosferatu in 1921. People still love movies about vampires even though they know that vampires are not real.
- 13 Movie monsters have been around for a long time. The stories that gave rise to the creepy creatures on the silver screen are interesting in themselves. As long as people keep going to see monster movies, filmmakers will be more than happy to provide them with these thrilling, chilling movies—the scarier the better!

Chase wrote about foods animals eat. Read Chase's paper, and look for revisions he needs to make. Then answer the questions that follow.

What to Eat for Dinner?

(1) Animals eat different kinds of food, depending on their bodies, environment, and needs. (2) Some animals eat only plants. (3) Others eat only meat. (4) Still others eat both meat and plants. (5) Animals are well suited to the types of food they eat.

(6) There are some animals that eat only plants. (7) They are called herbivores. (8) Herbivores eat fruit, nectar, nuts, seeds, grass, leaves, and roots. (9) Some herbivores have trouble digesting certain foods like grass. (10) To solve this problem, herbivores called ruminants have unusual stomachs. (11) A ruminant swallows its food. (12) The food passes to the first part of its stomach, where it is digested a little. (13) Then, it comes up again, so the ruminant can chew it some more. (14) Cows, deer, and camels are ruminants. (15) Other herbivores include rabbits, koalas, and termites.

(16) Meat eaters are called carnivores. (17) Sometimes carnivores eat herbivores, such as when a lion eats a gazelle. (18) Other times, carnivores eat other carnivores, such as when a hawk eats a snake. (19) Not all carnivores hunt. (20) Some, like buzzards, eat animals that are already dead. (21) Like herbivores, carnivores have bodies suited for their food. (22) For example, leopards have large teeth and claws that help them catch and kill their prey, which they catch and kill with their large teeth and claws.

10 Chase wants to combine the ideas in sentences 11 and 12. In the box provided, write a new sentence that combines these ideas in a clear and effective way.

Janie is writing a letter to the mayor about conserving water. Read Janie's letter, and look for corrections she needs to make. Then answer the following questions.

(1) 75646 Highway 45
(2) Cinnabar, Texas 76113
(3) July 23, 2023

(4) Mayor Courtney Williams
(5) 2234 Main street
(6) Cinnabar, Texas 76113

(7) Dear mayor Williams:

(8) Water conservation is becoming a very important issue for cities across the nation. (9) People are realizing that they cannot take water for granted. (10) We must all do our part to use water wisely. (11) I think our city can be a leader in water conservation. (12) I suggest that our city take steps to become a model for wise water use.

(13) First, I think we should encourage people to grow lawns that need little water. (14) Some cities, like Austin, Texas, have offered homeowners money to replace their thirsty grass lawns with rock landscaping and low-water plants. (15) This program is very promising. (16) I believe we should begin a similar program.

(17) Second, I suggest that WaterSense products be put in all city buildings. (18) WaterSense is a program by the u.s. government meant to get people to use less water. (19) WaterSense products include toilets, washing machines, faucets, showerheads, and other water fixtures that use at least 20 percent less water than older products.

(20) Finally, I suggest that the city water department teach citizens the importance of saving water. (21) They could hold special classes and run commercials on television to let people know how they can do their part. (22) The public need information about how to save water. (23) This information would be a great way to spread the word about water conservation.

(24) Saving water is very important. (25) It takes a lot of energy to collect, process, and clean water. (26) So, wisely using water also saves energy. (27) It makes sense for us all to do our part. (28) These are the reasons why I think the three steps help our city.

(29) yours truly,
